The image shows a blank, multi-page character sheet for a tabletop RPG, likely Dungeons & Dragons. The sheet is organized into several columns and rows. At the top left, there is a section for "CANTRIPS" with a header box containing the number "0". Below this are ten horizontal lines for notes. To the right of the cantrip section are two columns of ten horizontal lines each, representing spell slots for levels 1 through 9. Each column has a header box at the top with its respective level number (1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9). The first column also includes a "PREPARED" section with a header box containing the number "1". On the far left edge of the sheet, the words "SPELLS KNOWN" are printed vertically. The entire sheet is designed to be printed on both sides of a page, with fold lines visible along the right and bottom edges.
